Commented [PG1]:

Reference entries for each source cited in the paper appear at the very end of the paper on a new page. The reference list appears with the heading, References, centered and boldface under the header. The entries are alphabetized by the first letter of the first word of each entry, double spaced. If an entry is longer than one line, each subsequent line of the same entry is formatted with hanging indentations of 1/2 an inch.

Commented [2]:

This source is inserted into the alphabetical order of the references by using the E in European, not the T in The.
